November 2026

'In Flanders' fields the poppies blow between the crosses, row on row, that mark our place: and in the sky the larks, still bravely singing, fly scarce heard amid the guns below.'

This is the first verse of John McCrae's poem, first published in Punch magazine in 1915. It soon came to symbolise the sacrifice of all who died in World War One. Today, the poppy remains an important symbol of all those who have sacrificed their lives in conflicts over the years. But why do we remember them?

'They will beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation will not take up sword against nation, nor will they train for war any-more.' (Micah 4:3). Writing 700 years before Christ, Micah spoke at the time when Samaria was captured due to the invasion of Assyria. However, he prophesied a future of hope, a world where nations would come together in peace rather than war. His words are fulfilled in the kingdom of God established by Jesus.

Our understanding of peace is more than simply the absence of conflict. It is about building relationships between people, communities and nations, founded on love and justice for all. As we remember those who have died in war, we should look practically at how we can build such relationships, beginning with our own families, colleagues and neighbours. 'We will walk in the name of the Lord our God for ever and ever.' (Micah 4:5). Let us ask God's Spirit to make us people of peace, justice and compassion for today's world.

'They shall grow not old as we that are left grow old: Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn. At the going down of the sun and in the morning we will remember them.'

An Act of Remembrance will take place at the Cobham War Memorial on the 8th of November at 10am

Book Review

It has been a pleasure to have reviewed a tome written by a local author. Peter Balanck's book, 'Church of England Unpacked' published by Vektor Publishing is available now from Amazon (£12).

Peter's book is a brilliantly easy to use guide. It provides a brief history of the Church of England along with explanations of how things work today.

With my Church of England education, compulsory attendance at Church and participation in the choir and after 11 years of editing this, essentially Church led magazine. You would think I'd have a fair knowledge of the ins and outs of the Church of England, however, Peter's book highlighted just how little I do know.

If you've ever been in Church and wondered why someone was wearing a particular item of clothing or whether you should sit, stand or kneel during worship, then wonder no more. The answers to these and many other questions can be found in Peter's book. If you are interested in finding out more about the Church and its traditions you will find this resource useful, everything is in alphabetical order and easy to use and I, for one, will be keeping Peter's book handy!

North Kent Embroiderers

Our last meeting was a fascinating talk by Cressida Williams who is the Archives and Library Manager at Canterbury Cathedral. She told us about the textile collections many of which are centuries old. We learnt about the collection of seal bags which dates back to the 9th, 10th and 11th centuries. These were small pockets made to protect medieval wax seals and the collection is the most important one in the country. Cressida told us about the Opus Anglicanum embroidery used to decorate both ecclesiastical and secular clothing, hangings and other textiles. This exceptionally fine, luxury embroidery was done using silver gilt thread on linen and silk velvet and formed a significant export to the Continent particularly from the late 12th to mid-14th centuries.

One very interesting piece on display is a replica of the 'jupon' - a jacket commissioned in 1376 by Edward the Black Prince to hang above his tomb. It is quilted and made with red and blue velvet with a yellow silk lining. The collection at Canterbury contains many ecclesiastical garments; copes, amises (collars), chasubles, slippers, buskins (stockings), mitres, many of which are highly decorated with rich embroidery, usually done by women and usually anonymous. At Canterbury these ladies today are known as The Holy Stitchers.

Cressida explained that the policy used with regards to display and use is that items which are precious and designed to be used, should be used for as long as possible, rather than hidden away to protect them, however, she did say that it would have taken the agreement of three committees to be able to bring any examples to our meeting!

Our latest banner project fits in well with this talk. It is widely thought that the Bayeux Tapestry was stitched by women at Canterbury Cathedral. Our group has chosen to make an addition to our banner to celebrate the loan of the Bayeux Tapestry to the British Museum. Several of our members have agreed to stitch a small panel depicting a tiny section of the embroidery.

How we do it is up to us, although we are aiming to keep to the original colour scheme. The finished pieces will be sewn together to make a hanging.

Watch this space to see how the project progresses!

If you or someone you know would maybe like to start a new hobby and to join our group or would just like to find out a bit more about us then please pay us a visit - look at our website:

Cats and teenagers

Neither teenagers nor cats turn their heads when you call them by name.

Cats rarely deign to walk with you when outside, and the same is true of teenagers.

Cats and teenagers can lie on the living-room sofa for hours on end without moving, barely breathing.

Cats have nine lives. Teenagers live as if they did.

Cats and teenagers are known to creep home at all hours of the night. Neither will tell you where they've been.

Remembering Leonard Cohen – poet and singer

Ten years ago, on 7th November 2016, Leonard Cohen, Canadian folk/soft rock singer, songwriter and poet died.

He was born into a well-off Jewish family in Montreal that was said to claim direct descent from Aaron – the name Cohen meaning priest. Bob Dylan once observed that Cohen wrote songs that were really prayers.

Before he was a singer Cohen was a poet and a novelist. Two collections – Let Us Compare Mythologies in 1956 and Spice-Box of Earth in 1961 – brought him acclaim as a poet, and this was enhanced by two novels, The Favourite Game and Beautiful Losers, in the early 1960s.

He had already moved to the Greek island of Hydra in 1960, where he met the Norwegian Marianne Ihlen, who became his muse. Later he was the long-time companion – though not husband – of Suzanne Elrod, who he met in a lift in Manhattan in 1968. They had two children: Adam, also a singer-songwriter, and Lorca, a photographer. Somewhat confusingly, Cohen's early song Suzanne, on his 1967 debut album, The Songs of Leonard Cohen, referred to a different woman, the wife of a friend.

Though some people mysteriously described his distinctive baritone voice as “depressing”, many others found his performances and his songs magical, compelling and full of spiritual and physical depth. Songs like Hallelujah and You Want it Darker, with its use of the Hebrew word hineni (here I am), implying total availability to God, meant much to practising Jews and Christians.

Cohen spent seven years in a Buddhist monastery in the 1990s, and afterwards lost much of his life savings through financial betrayal by his former manager. Following that, at the age of 71 he embarked on a global tour that was a massive success. He was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 2008, and two years later was honoured with a lifetime achievement Grammy.

BELL RINGING by Peter Hartley

After a hot summer, in a golden September at our first Wednesday evening ringing practice of the month we were joined by the Reverend Father Darren Moore, ringing friend and Anglican Parish Priest (a rare personage in North Kent) from the North. He was visiting family and also enjoying some ringing. He certainly helped our practice and for Saturday had plans for 4 quarter peals (each of 45 minutes ringing) at Cliffe, High Halstow, Hoo St. Werburgh and St. Margaret's, Rochester.

Yarm is Darren's parish, now in Cleveland and formerly in the North Riding of Yorkshire. In Yarm a revolution began. Five gentlemen met with a plan to build the Stockton to Darlington railway. The line opened 201 years ago and since then trains have circled the globe.

Then on Monday, with Neil Jones Captain of the Rochester Cathedral ringers as our conductor, we rang a quarter peal. With Martha Hyde in the band we rang to wish her happiness and success at Southampton University. Martha achieved her first quarter peal. The University has a ringing society and the city four ringing towers.

Being on duty in the church for a period on Ride and Stride Saturday I happened to meet the young lady whose mother and a fellow cyclist were so tragically killed in Sole Street in an accident the previous Sunday. She and her many friends lit candles and had some quiet. Our special church is open every day of the year thanks to a key holders rota arranged by Mary Palmer. The open church is there each day for everybody for every need.

We rang next day for the Sunday service and for the mother and fellow cyclist and all those who mourn.

September then included a ringing day and so to Harvest Festival. How land use has changed. Here was wheat, hops, apples, cherries, and strawberries. Now transport (ever wider and busier A2 and HSI), recreation (Jeskyms), apples and grapes. Once again marvellously Michele Jackson, with the support of Jean Pickering, decorated the church. Unchangingly the harvest hymns were sung and the bells rang out across the land.

Meopham Library Writing Group

Meopham Library Writing Group meets again on Thursday 5th November 2026 at 10am.

Afterwards, we shall be celebrating our 17th Anniversary by having lunch at a local restaurant.

Each month there is a writing challenge and a writing theme, such as “The Meal”, which can be used as a starting point for a short story, poem or an article. Creative writing is a very enjoyable activity which can also be used to record special family memories as well as being helpful for anyone facing difficult times. If you are interested in writing, you are very welcome to join us. Future meetings will be held on 3rd December, 7th January and 4th February.

Please ring 01474 813379 for more information.

Feedback Fatigue

Whene'er we place an order
For goods or merry tune,
There's one thing to be sure of –
The questions follow soon!

How did you like your purchase?
From one to five – please score!
How easy were your searches?
Will you return once more?

Or will you recommend us
To family or friend?
The questions that they send us
They never seem to end!

For feedback they are thirsting
“For quality”, they say.
With questions they are bursting!
They pour in every day!

Our time is cast asunder -
“Five minutes it will take!”
But then we have to wonder –
What difference will it make?

For what is really galling
Despite their questionnaires;
Their service? Still appalling!
For no-one really cares!

November

Winter is on its way but there is still plenty to do in the garden. Leaves are falling rapidly, and wind and rain are on the increase. Tender plants will need protecting from frost, gales and freezing rains. Move plants into the greenhouse, or into a sheltered spot, but if you can't, it is worth wrapping plants or pots in situ. Remember winter can be a tough time for birds in terms of water and food, so keep supplies well topped up.

RHS - Top jobs this month

1. Clear up fallen leaves - especially from lawns, ponds and beds
2. Raise containers onto pot feet to prevent waterlogging
3. Plant tulip bulbs for a spring display next year
4. Prune roses to prevent wind-rock
5. Plant out winter bedding
6. Cover brassicas with netting if pigeons are a problem
7. Insulate outdoor containers from frost - bubble wrap works well
8. Stop winter moth damage to fruit trees using grease bands around the trunks
9. Put out bird food to encourage winter birds into the garden

National Tree Week – 21st to 29th November

It really is time to appreciate our trees.

Did you know:

That the UK has 123,000 ancient and veteran trees, and more ancient oak trees than the rest of Europe combined?

Or that trees help us feel better? Studies have found that exposure to forests generally reduces our mental and physical stress, anxiety, and depression.

Or that 95% of land carbon in the UK is stored in soil, and trees help put it there? When wood and leaves fall, their carbon gets stored in the soil.

Or that hedgerows alongside our roads can reduce air pollution exposure by up to 63%?

No wonder that each year the Tree Council and its partners bring together the conservation sector, volunteers and tree-lovers to mark the start of the annual tree planting season. Together, they plant thousands of trees and hedgerows, to celebrate these “magnificent mainstays” of our landscape. And we need more trees. Sadly, only 13% of the UK’s total land area is covered in trees. That’s compared to an average of 46% in Europe. In England, the figure is just 10%.

On the plus side, there are more than 80 community tree nurseries in the UK, growing an estimated 250,000 trees a year, often from locally collected seed, and which are given away or sold at minimal cost.

The vicar's alternative to traditional after-service coffee was having a dramatic effect on male church attendance

Grandad was babysitting when he heard his little grand-daughter muttering the alphabet over in hushed tones. "What are you doing?" he asked her. "I'm praying," she replied. "I can't think of the right words so I just say all the letters. God will put them together for me 'cos He knows what I'm thinking."

Our members always look forward to our October meeting and this year's was no exception. Most of them enjoyed a ploughman's lunch and some delicious apple crumble. Following the meal, the afternoon meeting gave us all the chance to use our crafting skills as we turned two squares of paper, a wooden bead and a couple of cardboard discs, together with some paper folding, a bit of felt pen decoration and some glueing, into creating a delightful choirboy Christmas tree decoration, courtesy of Anne Latcham, whose idea it was and who supplied the materials and instructions.

Afterwards, we got our heads together to answer some tricky questions in a quiz. Here is an example: in which twelve letter food item does the letter A appear as every other letter?

Our next meeting will be on Wednesday 4th November. This is our annual Autumn Show, when our members have an opportunity to display the art and craft items that they have been working on over the past year, and perhaps win one of the trophies for their work. The subject for the photograph this year is "knobs and knockers", which should produce some interesting entries!

We always welcome new members to our friendly group of ladies. Our meetings are on the first Wednesday afternoon of each month from 2pm (except August). You can come along as a visitor for a couple of meetings before you decide whether to join. Visitors are charged £3, which includes refreshments.

It is getting a bit cooler now and as we walk through the falling leaves and conkers, we know it will not be long before the frost starts to form in the mornings and, who knows, we may even have some snow!

I love my cosy bed and sometimes when it is wet or cold out it is the place I want to stay. However, to make sure my feet dry quickly after my Autumn and Winter walks the editor keeps the fur around my paws trimmed nice and short, this also prevents lumps of snow or mud clinging to the fur. You can buy dog boots, but I am not sure I am a booty kind of dude.

There is plenty of information on the PDCA and RSPCA websites about keeping pets warm and healthy during the cold weather.

Enjoy firework night, but keep yourself and your furry friends safe.

In late 1914, WWI erupted across Northern France and Flanders. Great swathes of previously green fields and forests were blasted and bombed, leaving them bleak and barren, with seemingly every living thing destroyed.

But then in the Spring of 1915, something beautiful began to come out of all the destruction. Tens of thousands of bright red Flanders poppies began to put out tentative shoots across the endless vistas of mud. These resilient little flowers had actually flourished in the middle of so much chaos and destruction, because their seeds grow when exposed to sunlight, through disturbances to soil.

Those endless fields of cheerful poppies, growing in the midst of such horror, were what inspired the Canadian doctor, Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, to write the now famous poem 'In Flanders Fields'.
